It is with great pleasure that I present to you, the Australian Institute of Project Management's 2016 Project Management Achievement Awards Commemorative Book.

2016 has again seen some remarkable, innovative & simply outstanding projects and project managers' PMAA submissions

As the AIPM celebrates its 40th anniversary we are inspired by the continuous "raising of the bar" in the project management environment.

The Project Management Achievement Awards provide a platform for AIPM members and project managers, in general, to share their successes with the broader community.

I congratulate those of you who have won in your local chapters and in the national awards. To those who have not been successful I encourage you and your colleagues to continue to strive for excellence and submit again in the future.

On behalf of the Board of Directors, the Chapter Councils & the AIPM community, I would like to convey my sincere gratitude to National Chief Judge Philip van der Moezel and to his team of judges for their determined efforts and hard work and their commitment to ensuring the integrity of the judging process was maintained.

I hope you enjoy the 2016 PMAA Commemorative Book and join me and the broader project management community in applauding the achievements of the winning submissions and wish them the very best of luck in the apfpm awards.

Leh Simonelli

Chair AIPM Board of Directors

2016 was another very successful year for the Project Management Achievement Awards where we received a large number of submissions across the ten Project and four Individual achievement categories.

The overall submission standard was again high with the National winners spread widely amongst the Chapters. In particular, within the Individual categories, the judging was extremely competitive at the National level and even within Chapters where a number of High Commendations and Commendations were awarded.

Large numbers of submissions, always presents a challenge to find sufficient numbers of members, with the requisite skills and time, to commit to the judging challenge. It was encouraging to see that when the submission deadline had expired, sufficient volunteers had already stepped forward to meet this year's judging commitment.

I would also like to commend those other members that volunteered their time to mentor organisations in developing their various submissions. All these roles are essential to the success of the PMAA and I would like to personally thank each and every one of these volunteers for contributing to the success of the 2016 PMAA.

It would not have been possible for the judging teams to complete their task without the significant support of the National Conference and Events Manager, Jannene Stephens-Roberts. This was Jannene's first year in this role and it was very apparent that she jumped in the deep end without fear and performed an outstanding job.

It is exciting that this year is the AIPM Inaugural Regional Conference with IPMA and I wish all the best to those submissions that progress to the IPMA.

AWARDS FOR PROJECTS

There are ten categories for project submissions.

Category 1:

Construction/Engineering

Construction/engineering projects such as buildings, utilities, and infrastructure.

Category 2:

Defence/Aerospace

Defence or aerospace projects involving the delivery of products or services.

Category 3:

ICT/Telecommunications

Information and computer technology or telecommunications projects that normally involve the project management of the development of software, specific telecommunications applications and/or hardware upgrades.

Category 4:

Organisation/Change Management

Organisational change and management projects that normally involve the project management of organisational change. This category includes, but is not exclusive to, introduction of a PMO or EPMO to an organisation.

Category 5:

Small Projects

Small scale projects from any industry with a total project budget of less than $1,000,000 undertaken in any field.

Category 6:

Regional Projects

Projects undertaken outside of metropolitan areas. These projects must demonstrate that value was added to the regional area. Value may be achieved in many ways such as increased employment opportunities, technology, economic development, infrastructure improvements and health or education services. This category includes projects undertaken within the agricultural sector, which has involved the project management of aspects such as farm production, agricultural processing and manufacturing.

Category 7:

Community service and/or development

Community, cultural or volunteer based projects as well as projects that are conducted by or underpin/promote the education, development, preservation and well-being of Indigenous, disadvantaged, or disabled people or which are undertaken in not-for-profit organisations.

Category 8:

Sustainable Projects

Projects that demonstrate project management achievement/excellence in delivering sustainable outcomes from the social, financial and environmental (triple bottom line) viewpoints and/or projects that have embedded sustainability principles and practices into their project execution processes and organisational culture.

Category 9:

Internationally Funded Humanitarian Aid Projects

Projects that demonstrate project management achievement/excellence in delivering humanitarian aid projects, which have an international funding source.

Projects must fulfil the requirements of an internationally funded humanitarian project according to the The Ten Principles of the UN Global Compact.

Category 10:

Project Management Research Award

Research papers that demonstrate excellence in the areas of research innovation, complexity, the challenges faced and the value of the research to the project management community.

INDIVIDUAL AWARDS

There are four categories for individual submissions.

Category A:

Program/Project Director

(equivalent to AIPM Level 3 CPPD)

Project Team Member

(equivalent to AIPM Level 1 CPPP)

NATIONAL PROJECT OF THE YEAR

Queensland Rail Management Centre (RMC)

Queensland Rail

The Rail Management Centre (RMC) Project delivered a world class facility that is providing industry-leading strategic coordination for the Queensland Rail network.

More than 250 employees work in the RMC to support up to 4 million passengers and 1300 freight trains per month, across 800 kilometres of track.

The project scope included the design and construction of a new three-storey RMC and a two-storey car park.

Included in the delivery of the facility were the design and construction of; telecommunications, operational engineer systems, security access control and CCTV, information technology systems and new operational procedures.

NATIONAL INDIVIDUAL CATEGORY WINNERS

David Banks

Telstra Corporation

Program/Project Director of the Year

Telstra recruited David as the End to End program director. He became the key enabler of the successful launch of the Telstra Air Network.

The program was delivered on time and within budget. It set a new benchmark for fixed broadband plans in Australia enabling customers to use the data out of the home, it redefined the role of the public payphone and built a community Wi-Fi solution that enabled customers to share their home broadband connection securely with Telstra Air customers. Finally it developed an application to enable customers to seamlessly connect to the network without having to continuously log on.

Matt Lane

Brisbane Airport Corporation

Project Manager of the Year

Matt was employed by the Brisbane Airport Corporation (BAC) to strengthen the company's ability to manage and deliver key retail projects. Many of these initiatives are relatively small in dollar value but need the composure of a strong leader to maintain healthy relationships with many tenants and stakeholders without compromising good project practices.

Matt, a young, dynamic Project Manager represents the Assets Project Delivery Team at the Terminal Retail Client (internal). Although reporting functionally to Assets, Matt has successfully embedded himself in the client team integrating the relevant client activities together with project activities to achieve the project objectives and associated business cases.

Eric Vanweydeveld

Power and Water Corporation

Young Project Manager of the Year

In his current role, Eric is involved in delivering a wide range of major capital projects across the Northern Territory with a focus on water and wastewater treatment. Eric is passionate about applying innovative solutions and strives for delivering results efficiently and cost-effectively.

As a Senior Project Manager with Power and Water Corporation, Eric is responsible for the delivery of a wide range of major capital projects (water supply and sewerage) across the Northern Territory incorporating design, procurement, documentation, contract management, commissioning and handover. Major capital projects include construction of water storage, water pipelines, sewer mains, water and wastewater pump stations and water, wastewater and recycling treatment plants.

Gareth Faulkner

Department of Science, Information Technology and Innovation

Project Team Member of the Year

Gareth Faulkner is Project Governance and Assurance Manager for the Government Wireless Network (GWN) Implementation Program. Gareth established and administered a highly effective governance and assurance framework to support the successful delivery of the large and complex program which has a contract value of $515 million. He also provided advice to the Program Director and Project Managers on implementing modern, customised project management tools.

In particular, he established highly effective program reporting and financial management tools to ensure quality and compliance across eight work streams. Gareth Faulkner has extensive experience and significant achievements in delivering information and communications technology (ICT) projects in large, complex organisations.

AUSTRALIAN CAPITAL TERRITORY PROJECT OF THE YEAR

Project Benefit Management

Australian National University

In recent years, Project Benefit Management has emerged as a strategic and central area among project management researchers and practitioners. A wider view on the management of projects has emerged, which also discusses the delivery of strategic goals by projects. Consequently, benefit management is becoming an important research area. Project benefits are the flows of value that arise from a project. Project Benefit Management emphasises the strategic roles of projects in organisations, and defines the benefit management process.

Benefit management holds open the prospect of expanding the reach of the project management discipline to top management by shaping projects as instruments of business strategy implementation.

NEW SOUTH WALES PROJECT OF THE YEAR

Westmead Institute of Medical Research

Capital Insight Pty Limited

WIMR is a $110 million 17,500m2 facility for collaborative medical research and multi-disciplinary teaching, bringing together previously dispersed research bodies that operated largely independently. Implementation involved a number of challenges including a change in governance prior to construction, WIMR incorporating as a not-for-profit entity during the project, and integrating previously diverse research groups into a cohesive whole under a “one Institute” objective. The project won the 2015 Sulman Medal for Public Architecture, testimony to the high quality and functionality of the building in responding to users’ needs. The project had a budget surplus at completion and finished ahead of program.

NORTHERN TERRITORY PROJECT OF THE YEAR

Adelaide River Water Treatment Plant

Power and Water Corporation

Power and Water Corporation recently completed the Adelaide River Water Treatment Plant project to address water quality issues, reduce customer complaints and ensure safe drinking water supply. The aim of this major infrastructure improvement project was to deliver a sustainable and effective water treatment solution to reduce public health risks associated with drinking water high in iron and manganese. The construction of this water treatment plant which relies on the application of biological processes to remove iron and manganese is the first of its kind in Australia. The project was delivered in five years and dealt with various levels of complexity and numerous challenges.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA PROJECT OF THE YEAR

Gawler Wastewater Network Capacity Upgrade

Kellogg Brown & Root Pty Ltd (KBR)
& South Australian Water Corporation (SA Water)

This project was originally intended to upgrade two wastewater pump stations in the Gawler region to accommodate population growth. An innovative design solution improved the overall wastewater network capacity by installing a new main with a cross connection to the original main. This provided greater network flexibility and negated the need for major upgrade works at one of the pump stations. Whilst the design was cost effective, the selected route had many stakeholder engagement and construction complexities. The project was completed under budget and ahead of schedule by a team of KBR and SA Water employees known as PMP Solutions.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA PROJECT OF THE YEAR

Mills Park Redevelopment

City of Gosnells

Lifestyle changes and shrinking backyards have sparked a growing need for quality public open spaces. The Mills Park Redevelopment project was commissioned to cater to this change by delivering social, economic and health benefits to the community through improved public open space. To deliver this, during the initiation of the Project, the City of Gosnells chose to register the project with the Green Building Council Australia for sustainable certification. The Mills Park Redevelopment achieved a 6 Star Green-Star rating indicating world's best practice in sustainable design, the first of its kind in Australia.

VICTORIA PROJECT OF THE YEAR

Jamaica Bushmaster

Thales Australia

The Jamaica Defence Force (JDF) released a tender to the world market for Armoured Personnel Carrier Capability. Thales Australia's life-saving Bushmaster, designed and produced in the Victorian regional town of Bendigo, won the tender to replace older American vehicles.

The project consisted of 12 Bushmaster vehicles including support, training, integration with complex military communication systems and specific JDF requirements that are not the same as the Bushmaster delivered to Australia's Army. The first vehicle was delivered on schedule, with the final delivery culminating in a commissioning ceremony attended by the Jamaican Prime Minister.

TASMANIAN PROJECT OF THE YEAR

Forico Cloud Program of Projects

Intuit Technologies

In mid-2015, Forico, formally the Tasmanian timber company Gunns, set about remediating, and reshaping the company's technology to match its new business model, whilst leveraging newly available technologies. In late 2015 Intuit, were awarded the tender to partner in that transition. In terms of a lifecycle, the program began with an intensive round of business analysis and requirements gathering tasks at Forico, carried out by Deloitte as an independent third party. Intuit, in partnership with Telstra were one of the responders to the tender process and so the planning and design tasks were carried out in two phases. Firstly, as a high level response to the tender, and then in a round of iterations with Forico and Deloitte as Intuit and Telstra progressed as the preferred supplier.

Project management at its best

*Showcase your projects and your people
by entering the 2017 Project Management
Achievement awards.*

If you believe your staff and/or projects are worthy of recognition, give them the opportunity to shine on a National and international stage.

For corporate organisations, winning a PMAA can showcase your staff and projects and help your organisation stand out from competitors.

For government organisations, demonstrating excellence in project management reinforces the delivery of social and economic outcomes in a financially prudent and disciplined manner.

AIPM encourages projects from all industry sectors and entering the awards is an opportunity for your organisation to be recognised in both traditional and non-traditional project domains.

For information on how to submit, access the awards tab at www.aipm.com.au or call the AIPM National Office on (02) 8288 8700.
