2017 Project Management Achievement Awards

“The Project Management Achievements Awards is an important part of the professional and cultural canvas of the Australian Institute of Project Management. It was wonderful to see many of the celebrations across the country sold-out this year providing testament to the growing professionalism and industry recognition. I look forward to continuing growth in future years and encourage all our members, member organisations, partners and others within the industry to look at the opportunities to engage in 2018.”

Leh Simonelli FAIPM CPPD, Chair of the Board, AIPM

Our Awards Program

Our project management community has excelled once again by contributing the highest number of submissions in many years. AIPM is proud to be able to showcase outstanding projects and individuals in 2017. I congratulate those who have received an award at chapter level and those who have gained national recognition.

AIPM Chapters celebrated and recognised the very best of our profession at premier industry events across Australia in August and September. The National Awards evening celebrates the most outstanding accomplishments of all those that have participated Australia wide. An impressive trend in the Individual Project Management categories is the growing number of female entrants which has risen from 29% in 2015, through 33%, to 45% in 2017. This is a significant achievement for the AIPM.

I personally thank the National office staff for their outstanding support and, on behalf of AIPM, I thank the national judging team for their hard work and methodical approach thus ensuring the integrity of the judging process continues to be maintained.

The team hope that you enjoy reviewing the achievements showcased in the 2017 Project Management Achievement Awards Commemorative Booklet. We applaud the achievements and express our gratitude to our organisation’s supporters and partners.

Philip van der Moezel MAIPM CPPD
National Chief Judge

How We Judge

The National Judging Team are drawn from AIPM members with expertise in a particular area and award category and have volunteered their time to assist in judging entries, ensuring independence and neutrality, non-bias judging. Submissions are received from across Australia and are compared with other submissions in that category, no matter its location.

Over 200 project and individual submissions were received across the Categories for the 2017 program. We thank all of our judges for their time and expertise in deciding the Chapter and National winners and commendations for the 2017 Project Management Achievement Awards.

National Project of the Year

Digital Library Infrastructure Replacement National Library of Australia

The Digital Library Infrastructure Replacement Program has been the National Library of Australia's largest and most important digital technology initiative in its recent history.

The program enables the National Library to manage the vast amount of existing and future copyrighted digital material. This has transformed the library's future operating practices by providing systems capable of managing massively increasing digital collections.

A combination of projects completed in Stage 4 of the program, this stage enabled the National Library to fulfil its mandate to collect and manage its digital collections securely & accountably; deliver innovative new services to improve national reach; improve productivity for collecting and collection management; and create sustainable IT infrastructure.

Project Team Member

Han Lian

Han is an enthusiastic and passionate Project Manager in the construction industry. Han has been working on the Delamere Works Project for the Department of Defence, looking after procurement and cost management activities. Han has tertiary qualifications in both Electrical Engineering and Construction Management; and has recently completed her AIPM Certified Practicing Project Manager accreditation.

Young Project Manager

Jessica Hoddinott

Jessica is a Project Manager from Aurecon with over 8 years of experience in Health Infrastructure and Defence Projects. In 2014, Jessica was engaged by Ronald McDonald House South East Queensland and seconded into the organisation as the Client Side Project Manager for the Ronald McDonald House South Brisbane Project. Jessica led the organisation throughout the design, construction and commissioning of the project.

Project Manager

Shan Bala

Shan is a project management professional with 12 years' of program, project and construction management experience in Australasia; primarily in the water/ wastewater industry; having successfully lead and delivered complex projects with multi-disciplined teams. Shan is currently a program manager with capital planning and delivery for KBR & SA Water, and is responsible for all aspects of project planning, development and delivery. Shan and his project teams have achieved 100% of their KPIs repeatedly over several years. Shan lead approximately $55M of capital works programs with SA Water in the last financial year; delivering a "surpass expectations" outcome from the client.

Program/Project Director

Robert Scodellaro

Robert is responsible for all projects greater than $10m in value across the international and domestic terminals averaging $125M per year. Making Robert a differentiator, is his unique capability to work seamlessly across functional departments and portfolios by aligning projects with business objectives. Besides his business knowledge, Robert demonstrates a high level of competence in project management practices. He is highly respected by all stakeholders internally and externally.

Mott MacDonald and the University of Adelaide

The $246-million, 13-level, 32,000m2, Adelaide Health and Medical Sciences building officially opened in February 2017, marking the end of an incredible four-year journey for the University of Adelaide and Mott MacDonald PM Team.

Located within the South Australian Health and Biomedical Precinct, the AHMS is home to 1,600 students and 580 researchers. A technically complex building housing innovative facilities including the Health Simulation Centre strengthens the University’s reputation as a world leading medical research and education provider. The project is the largest capital works project in the University’s history and will enable better health outcomes for today and tomorrow.

Department of Industry Innovation and Science and the Department of Defence

The Defence Industry Policy Statement was released in February 2016, setting out a range of policy initiatives and funding to improve the relationship between industry and Defence, streamline industry-facing programs, and make it simpler for industry to work with Defence. A program of work was initiated to deliver this ‘once in a generation’ change, consolidating a range of Defence industry and innovation programs, and successfully establishing the Centre for Defence Industry Capability and the Defence Innovation Hub in December 2016. The new arrangements are a result of a partnership between Defence and the Department of Industry, Innovation and Science.

1 William Street Change Program
Shape Consulting

The Queensland Government’s dynamic new workplace at 1 William Street (1WS), Brisbane, supports efficient service delivery through agency collaboration and technology. Almost 5,000 government employees from 20 agencies work together at 1WS.

Transition to the building is recognised as Australia’s largest government integration project. The transition was also the catalyst for the most significant change in the government workplace in a generation.

Shape Consulting planned and guided this change; navigating challenges including an innovative ‘activity based’ workplace. The success of the program is evident in the more than 80% staff satisfaction with the 1WS workplace six months after transition.

Projects

Waterfall Culvert Upgrade
Sydney Trains - Major Works Division

The Waterfall Culvert Upgrade project aimed to address embankment erosion and track instability by upgrading the drainage on a high-risk section of the Illawarra Line, where monitoring had identified track movement. The scope was to design and construct a new drainage system to safely transfer stormwater from one side of the rail embankment to the other. These embankments are over 100 years old, were constructed using rock fill from cutting construction, and are susceptible to erosion from stormwater pooling on the upstream side and seeping through to the other side of the embankment. This can lead to track instability which has the potential to disrupt services for 84,000 Illawarra customers and 635,000t of freight per week. This project was challenging due to its remote location with no mobile coverage, situated within a national park and water catchment area, the presence of a threatened species, the difficult terrain and access, and the risks of tunnelling in a live operating environment.

Category 6
Regional Projects

Toowoomba Flood Recovery Program (2011 to 2016)
Toowoomba Regional Council

Toowoomba Region was devastated by floods in 2011, 2013 and 2014, with widespread damage to public infrastructure and loss of life. With major damage spread across Council’s 13,000 km² of local government area, the scale and complexity of the reconstruction program was significantly larger than anything previously experienced.

In response, Toowoomba Regional Council developed an innovative and collaborative delivery model to ensure value for money outcomes.

The Flood Recovery Program 2011 to 2016 has delivered around $250m of works through NDRRA funding and $50m of works through other funding across Toowoomba Region, subsequently supporting Council in developing its internal project delivery capabilities.

Category 7
Community and/or Development

Ronald McDonald House South Brisbane
Aurecon

Ronald McDonald House in South Brisbane provides short-term accommodation for families of the community’s sickest children. Squeezed onto a tricky CBD site, providing amenities, car parking, play spaces and common facilities, as well as accommodation for up to 450 people, it’s now the largest Ronald McDonald House in the world.

It is challenging taking a hands-on charity on a construction journey, more than doubling their capacity. Empathy and expertise helped the Aurecon Project team provide everything from the design vision direction to project delivery and operational modelling of a real “home away from home” for families at their most vulnerable.

Category 8
Sustainable
Projects

Cox Peninsula Remediation Project
Jacobs Group (Australia) Pty Ltd

The Cox Peninsula Remediation Project was a highly complex, multi-disciplinary remediation project of over 4,750 hectares of land on Cox Peninsula, in the Northern Territory. Its purpose was to facilitate the Kenbi Land Claim and the eventual handover of the land to its Traditional Owners.

The project resulted in the successful removal and on site treatment of over 28,000 m3 of contaminated material, demolition of existing site structures and the construction of a containment cell and permanent water bore for future use. A bird pole was also constructed for a nationally protected osprey species on site.

Project management at its best.

As a project management professional our Project Management Achievement Awards provide the opportunity for organisations and individuals to be recognised locally, nationally and internationally.

As an event partner, our program offers opportunity to build market place acknowledgement as a supporter of project management.

AIPM encourages projects from all industry sectors in both traditional and non-traditional project domains.
